Re: Tatiana Zolondek v. Worldwide Flight Services, Inc.
EEOC Charge No. 160-A1-2317

Dear Mrs. Zolondek:

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (hereinafter referred to as the "Commission") has concluded its inquiry into your allegations of discrimination. The Commission's procedures require us to focus our limited resources on those cases that are most likely to result in findings of violations of the laws we enforce. In accordance with these procedures, the Commission has evaluated your charge, including the information you provided, and has concluded that the evidence is not sufficient to continue this investigation.

You allege that you were retaliated against because you filed a previous charge with the Commission in violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended. More specifically, you allege that your employer (hereinafter referred to as the "Respondent") questioned you regarding you filling of a charge of discrimination; they gave you a hard time when you requested a leave of absence without pay, and they placed a camera in your work area to monitor your daily activities during working hours.

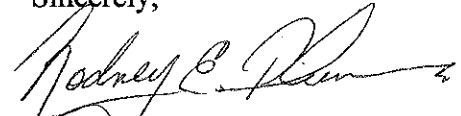

In order for Respondent to provide a position statement regarding any alleged discrimination it is necessary to conduct an investigation which requires the interview of persons named in the charge. Therefore, the questioning of you regarding the alleged discrimination which you previously complained of is well within the normal course of an investigation.

Respondent's position statement indicates that you were granted a leave of absence without pay upon request and therefore, did not retaliate against you in this manner. Respondent further states that there were thirty-two security cameras installed by Korean Airlines in order to prevent burglaries and hold-ups in the building and that the plan for installation of these cameras were in affect for two years prior to your filing of a charge of discrimination. Also, these cameras were installed in a variety of areas throughout the work area and not only situated at your station.

Given the information above, it is unlikely that further investigation will result in the finding of a violation of the laws we enforce. This determination concludes the processing of this charge. Enclosed is your Notice of Right to Sue, allowing you to file suit in Federal District Court against the Respondent if you so choose. This letter will be the only notice of dismissal and the only Notice of Right to Sue sent by the Commission. Following this dismissal, you may only pursue this matter by filing suit within 90 days of receipt of this letter, otherwise your right to sue will be lost.

Sincerely,
